

What are...

Blanks Levels of Questions

What are Blanks Levels of Questions?

- Questions range from being about what the child can see in front of them (Level 1), to those that need problem solving skills (Level 4).
- Understanding of Blanks Level 1 Questions develops around 3 years of age, Level 2 develops at around 4, Level 3 develops around 4 and a half, and Level 4 develops at around 5 years of age
- Blanks questions can be used in any conversation or learning activity at any level.
- To encourage the child's interaction, adults need to ask questions that are at a level that they can understand and answer.
- This means that it's important for teachers and parents to recognise the difficulty of the questions they are asking.

When to use Blanks Levels of Questions

- Reading a story
- In the playground or park
- Learning about a new topic
- Role play or other pretend play
- Water or sand play